HR group hits PH over killings

By the ILO-BANGLA and PHILSTAR 10.1.2013

The Philippine government's failure to prosecute human rights violations against its citizens, particularly in the context of extrajudicial killings, even though strong evidence exists to implicate it, is tantamount to the best example of human rights abuse in the world, according to a report by Human Rights Watch (HRW).

The HRW, in its World Report 2013, said hundreds of human rights activists, journalists, and civil society leaders have been killed or harassed since 2009 by the Philippine government, with some killings being extrajudicial.

Palace: Tax returns needed on CJ wealth

Blast rocks Makati business district

By WYRON CALICA

The income tax returns (ITRs) of Chief Justice Renato Corona will "confirm his dirt" on his alleged unexplained wealth, a business official said yesterday.

It is not yet clear if President Aquino will allow the release or presentation of the ITRs to the Senate impeachment court by House of Representatives (HR) Jose De Venecia.

Corona's camp said the ITRs are irrelevant and that they can only be released upon the approval of Aquino, who makes no secret of his dislike for the Chief Justice.

Supporters of the Chief Justice said they were satisfied by the prosecution's move to ask the House of Corona's alleged illegally acquired wealth to the Senate. But they also said that the House's statement of assets, liabilities and net worth (SALIN) is inconsistent with Article 7 of the 1987 Constitution.

But presidential spokesman Edwin Lomera said the ITRs are irrelevant considering the discrepancies between the SALIN of Corona and his net worth.

The issue concerned, he said, the release of the ITRs to the Senate. Corona said these were only his taxes, from 2009 to 2012, and that he was not a tax evader.

Cops stop jilted man from suicide jump

An anti-suicide vigilante held a vigil for a jilted man who jumped from a 10th-floor condominium, but cops were too late to prevent the Davao City resident.

Joseph Antonio, 41, pulled himself out of the gutter at his 10th-floor apartment after jumping from the 10th floor of his 10th-floor apartment, 11, after his girlfriend, 31, told him to leave her. He was found by a neighbor who called the police. He was taken to the Davao City General Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

A vigil was held for him on the 10th floor of his apartment. The vigil was held by a group of people who were holding candles and singing. The vigil was held for about an hour.

Research in social literature significantly publicizes the importance of social capital. Social Theorists of various persuasions (e.g., Bourdieu, 1986; Coleman, 1989; Putnam, 1993) have argued that the "phenomenological" responses to diabetes (e.g., depression, isolation, and loss of self-esteem) are a result of a lack of social capital. Social capital is defined as a resource that is embedded in social networks and is available to individuals and groups (Putnam, 1993).

From Good to Great: Mapúa engages world-renowned speaker to strengthen system

Journalist Best De Maigrae looks at the findings.

After being the first university in the Philippines and the first in Asia to receive the ISO 9001 certification, Mapúa is seeking another accolade, but not necessarily another system certification.

Together with its Philippine technological school (PTTS) and other Mapúa schools, Mapúa Institute of Technology (MIT) is the Philippines' first ISO 9001-certified university. In the system, a world-renowned speaker will reinforce Mapúa's commitment to ISO 9001. The week of January 25, Gloria Rogers, an international speaker and author of the book From Good to Great, will visit the Philippines to strengthen Mapúa's commitment to ISO 9001.

MITTS is the first university in the Philippines to be ISO 9001-certified. It is the first university in the Philippines to be ISO 9001-certified. It is the first university in the Philippines to be ISO 9001-certified.
